No Foie Gras South Africa

P.O. Box 1156

Milnerton 7435

South Africa

February 19th, 2008

Dear friends,

As a spokesman for Stop Gavage, a French non-profit dedicated to the abolition of foie gras, I am thrilled to see your No Foie Gras campaign educating the public in South Africa about the cruelty inherent in this production.

I live in a region, the South-West of France, where much of the world foie gras is produced. We have visited many foie gras farms here. When you see what these birds have to endure, you find it hard to understand why some French people still claim to be proud of this product. Hard to understand why sticking a pneumatic pump down the throat of a caged animal is supposed to be part of a tradition of high culture.

We have no doubt that once informed of the reality of foie gras production, South African consumers and restaurants will boycott this product and support a ban on sales of foie gras in your country.

Thank you so much for your contribution to the growing worldwide movement that will eventually, we have no doubt about it, put an end to the ordeal of 40 million animals every year.

Best Regards,

Antoine Comiti
